

Connect the world of assets with your collaborators file system

Invite external users to collaborate with censhare via the widely spread and easy to use Dropbox platform.

No censhare login, nor training in censhare, is required. The external user manage the assets via their own file system.

This provides you with a safe environment where the suppliers can easily access only the folder they have been shared. No undesired access to other assets within censhare or to the folders of competitors.

In censhare the new Dropbox-group serves as a collaboration area where included assets shared.

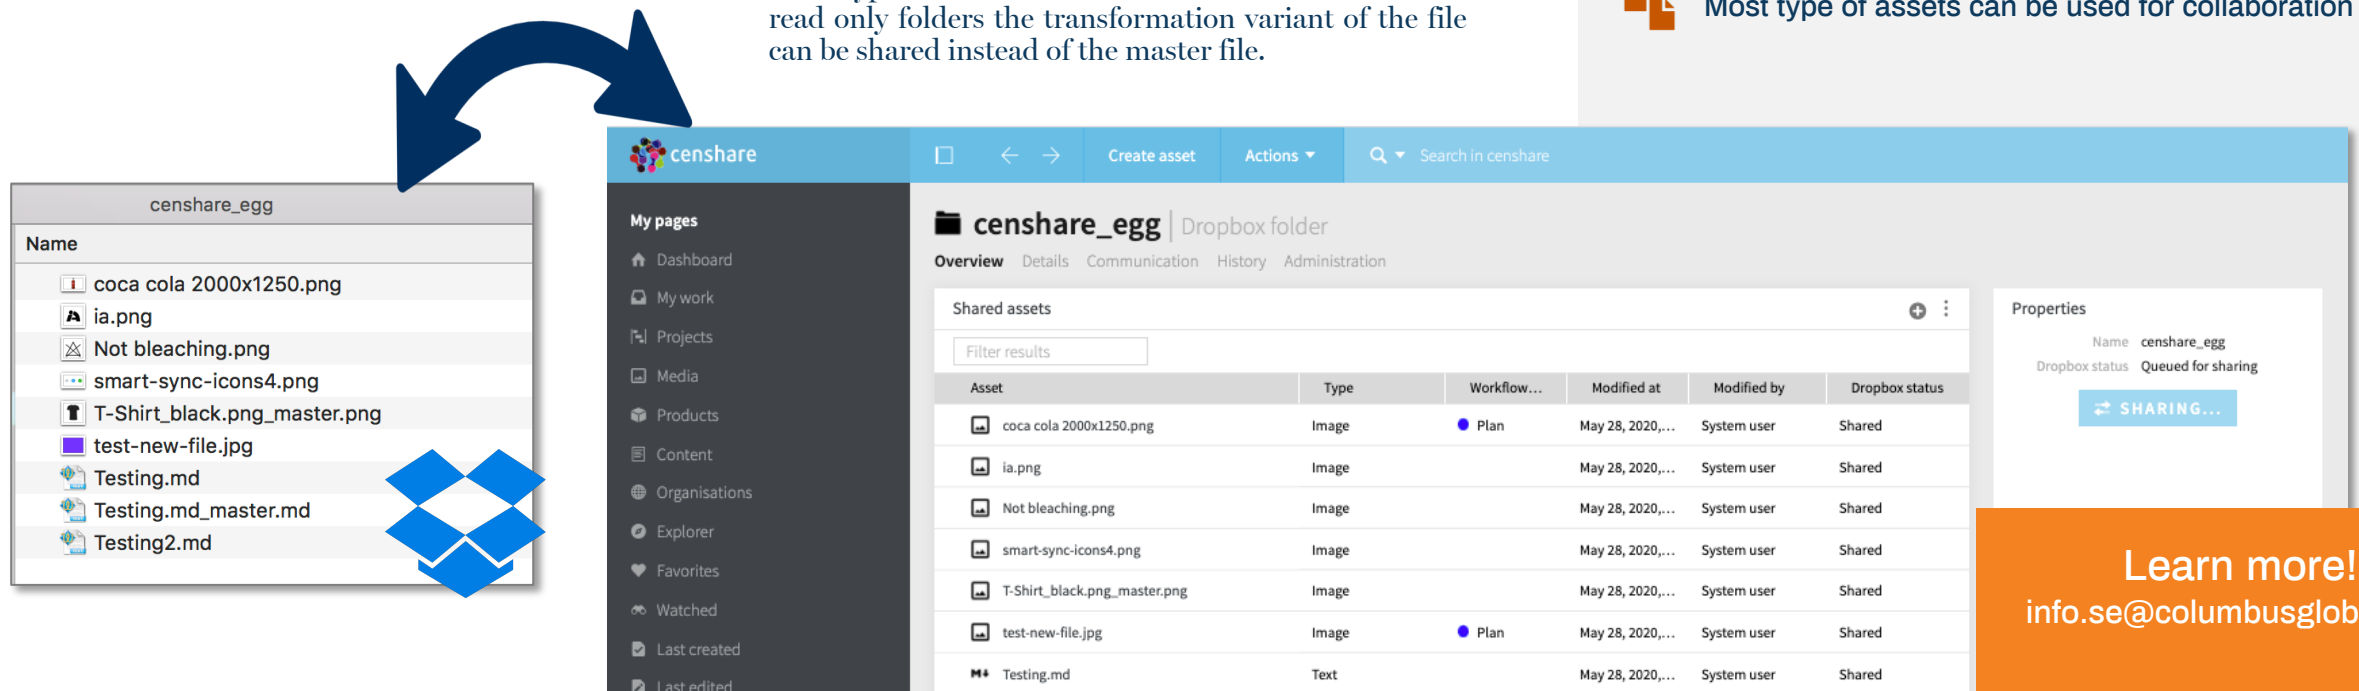

You can add members, control file access and organise your assets in sub folders. At any time you can start or stop the sharing.

Your existing workflows can be used, and you can create automations to move assets in or out of the shared Dropbox-folder, to extend the collaboration functionality.

Most type of assets can be used for collaboration and read only folders the transformation variant of the file can be shared instead of the master file.

ADVANTAGES

-  Simple collaboration with external users
-  No censhare user or training required
-  Safe environment as single folders can be shared
-  Easy to manage file access on the Dropbox-group asset
-  Most type of assets can be used for collaboration

The screenshot displays the censhare interface. On the left, a file list for 'censhare_egg' includes files like 'coca cola 2000x1250.png', 'ia.png', and 'Testing.md'. A blue arrow points from this list to the main interface. The main interface shows a 'censhare_egg' Dropbox folder with a table of shared assets. The table has columns for Asset, Type, Workflow, Modified at, Modified by, and Dropbox status. A 'SHARING...' button is visible in the Properties panel on the right.
