DeepL Connector

Fast, fully automated translations integrated into censhare with the world's best machine AI from DeepL.

Translate your content from censhare fully automatically in seconds with the DeepL Connector - whether it's a matter of product information, thousands of product texts or entire office documents.

You retain full control over the translation process at all times and save on costs for expensive translation agencies. What's more, the internal censhare translation memory can be synchronized and expanded so that your terminology is also taken into account for your translations.

Translations had never been so fast and simple – just see for yourself!

Benefits

- Translations in over 550 language combinations possible, including alignment of the censhare terminology memory with the DeepL glossary

- Translation of extensive XML product texts, automated localization of asset names or asset attributes, all the way to entire documents

- Exceptionally high quality through machine translation with AI with transparent cost and character control

- Maximum data security through cutting-edge encryption technologies and guaranteed data deletion after translation
